15.7% CalWORKs Grant Reduction Proposal Effective June 1, 2010

Governor Schwarzenegger released his budget that would institute a 15.7 reduction of CalWORKs benefits effective June 1, 2010.

Chart #1 below reveals that if this is enacted by the Legislature, the fixed incomes of California's impoverished families would be below what they were in July, 1985.

2010-2011 Governor's Budget Reverts to Fantasy

The 2010-2011 proposed budget was described by Dan Walters, a conservative columnist for the Sacramento Bee, as the Governor reverting to fantasy. The budget protects education and launches an unprecedented attack on human services programs serving the poor of California. The idea pits advocates for health and welfare programs against education advocates.

The Governor's budget assumes that the federal government gives California a welfare check of $6.9 billion. California has mismanaged its budget affairs by neglecting the reality of the need for revenues. The response from Washington came via Senator Feinstein who said "California's budget crisis was created in Sacramento, not Washington". Moreover, the federal government has denied funding for undocumented correctional inmates that California has been trying to get for more than a decade. The budget provides that if the Governor does not get his $6.9 welfare check from the federal government he will propose to eliminate the CalWORKs program, the IHSS program and more.

This means that the federal government would need to take over the TANF program in California. America cannot abandon children - that is child abuse.

The Governor has called another special session to enact $6.6 billion which would include eliminations of CAPI, CFAP, reduction of individual SSI benefits by $15, reduction of CalWORKs grant by 15.7%, decimation of the IHSS program and reduction of child care rates. Below is a chart showing the welfare budget cuts proposed by the Governor for 2010-2011.
